Baseball Will Begin Next Week

Local Club to Meet and Elect Tuesday Night

Spring hit Narberth with all four feet Thursday and conversation immediately shifted from coal to ice and from slush to baseball.

The ball will start rolling (no pun intended) next Tuesday night. A meeting will be held on that date in the office of Mr. Robert J. Nash, near the station.

The program for the meeting, which will be under the gavel of either President Fletcher W. Stites or Vice President John J. Cabrey, includes many subjects of interest to the fans.

Plans for the year will be discussed; Narberth's place in the Main Line League will be decided upon, and the preliminary details worked out.

In addition, the election of officers will take place. This includes not only the executives, but also the active official—the manager. That job was held by Fred Walzer last year, and it is said he seeks re-election. Announcement of other candidates has not yet been made.

The robins have been chirping, the bluebirds twittering and the flickers flickering for quite some time now, and baseball bugs and buggettes are becoming anxious to know what is to be done in Main Line League circles in this year of grace. Up to now there has been nothing stirring. President Bob Edgar hasn't issued a call for the league's annual meeting, supposed to be held in February, but it is probable the clans (not K. K. K.) will gather within a week or 10 days and decide who's who and what's what.

In the towns whose teams made up last year's circuit little has been done as yet about getting started. Over Bala-Cynwyd way there is talk of a strictly home team, backed by the Neighborhood Club, but nothing definite has been decided. Narberth, of course, will have a good team. That bunch always has the goods. The boroughites' grounds are now being put in first-class condition for the season.

At Ardmore the K. of C., the Autocar and the present Oakmont aggregation are talking league ball. Phin Pyott, the "Grand Old Man" of Main Line baseball, says he is done, but Phin has said the same thing every spring for the past 50 odd years so his pronouncement is to be taken with a grain of salt. When the ump calls play Phin and his Pirate band will in all likelihood answer the call.

Paoli is rarin' to go, according to all reports—which brings us by natural gravitation to Wayne, where a situation exists. With the school grounds being regraded, etc., the club will have to hunt new pastures. St. Luke's field has been suggested for the home games, and as the authorities of that school have always been willing to accommodate it is probable that arrangements could be made. In the meantime Impressario Nicholas Dorsaneo has his ear to the ground waiting for the siren call to arms. Nick isn't worrying about players—yet. Get the league started, opines Nick, and the players will start themselves. All of last year's team will probably be available, and with some new talent coming up from the high school team prospects look bright.

Anyhow, it's time to get together and talk over the situation. Let's go!

Raid General Wayne Inn.

Prohibition agents descending in a surprise raid on the General Wayne Inn, on Montgomery avenue, near Meeting House lane, Narberth, last Saturday seized liquor, said to be whiskey, which they claimed was being sold over the bar.

The proprietor, John Odell, was arrested and released on bail for hearing before the U. S. Commissioner at Ninth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. The hearing was held Monday.

Bake Sale.

On Saturday morning, April 4, there will be a sale of home-made cakes and pies at Cook's, Haverford avenue, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Sale starts at 9:30 o'clock.

Juniors Work Hard on Coming Show

"Billy" to Appear on April Fourth

The show, "Billy," to be presented by the Juniors on the evening of April 4 is certain to appeal to every person in Narberth. With scenes laid on an ocean liner, it has all the "tang" of an ocean breeze and the thrill of a sea voyage with none of the discomfort of seasickness. Even those who feel no thrill at the sight of a "gob," bounding waves or the boom of the surf will laugh heartily over the many mishaps of the athletic Billy. Connoisseurs of feminine beauty will do well to occupy the front seats.

Beautiful and nimble "chorines" are busily practicing their intricate and graceful dance steps and snappy and melodious music adds zest to the affair.

Those of you who have viewed past performances given by this organization know that no calendar year is complete until the Juniors have presented their annual entertainment. "Billy" is no exception to the rule of successes, yet it promises, from its very novelty of setting and plot, to even surpass any previous efforts.

In order to insure admittance, you had best purchase tickets in advance. They may be had from any Junior. Admission, 75 cents; reserved seats, $1.00.

JAMES FAULK IS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF HIGH QUINSET

Seven Lettermen Elect New Leader at Wednesday Meeting.

Jimmy Faulk, forward of the Lower Merion High basketball team who was forced to leave the team in the closing days of its season because of heart trouble, was elected captain of the quintet for the 1925-26 season at a meeting of the basketball lettermen in the Senior High School in Ardmore Wednesday afternoon. He succeeds Bob Gilfillan, of Narberth, as leader of the Maroon and White basketballers. Faulk, who it is believed will be in shape to play when the next season comes around, was an early favorite for the captaincy. He did not get the coveted honor unanimously, however, several votes being cast for another member of the team.

The seven lettermen who were announced some time ago and who voted in the election Wednesday were Captain Gilfillan, Faulk Morris, Paul Scull, Dave Bevan, Dick Reinhold and Ruddick. Faulk was forced to leave the squad by the doctor's orders before he had played in a sufficient number of games to earn his insignia. He was, however, awarded honorary letters.

SHEARER-LAIRD

The marriage has been announced of Miss Jane Laird, of 505 Brookhurst avenue, to Mr. Norris Shearer on March 15, at Media.

Mrs. Shearer is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Laird, and Mr. Shearer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Shearer, of Twenty-first and Diamond streets, Philadelphia.

The affair was a double wedding. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Semple, of Philadelphia, having accompanied the other couple into the realms of matrimony.

They drove to Media with two friends, Messrs. Ben Wagner and Earl Crew, of Philadelphia, and were married there by a Justice of the Peace.

Churches to Co-operate.

During Holy Week our four Protestant churches are arranging for four union meetings, to be held on the evenings of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, in the various churches, according to the schedule to be announced next week. These will be followed by a special meeting in each church on Good Friday evening.

Rummage Sale.

The Evangel Circle of Kemp and Daughters will hold their spring rummage sale April 17. They will be glad to have anything salable; chinaware, clothing, furniture, pictures, etc.

Call Narberth 1652-W or 386-R. Articles will be called for.

Elm Hall Packed for Minstrels

Scout Troop Now on the Stage

Everything's ready for the annual Boy Scout Minstrel Show at Elm Hall.

All sorts of stunts will be pulled off, songs, jokes, Scout work and everything.

After the Saturday show tonight there will be a dance with Gilpin's Orchestra providing the music.

Tickets for Friday are 50 cents, for Saturday including the dance 60 cents.

It promises to be a tremendous success and advance tickets sales indicate a large attendance.

In addition to the boys' stunts, Chief Strongwolf, of the Ojibways, war veteran and Eagle Scout, will do his stuff for Saturday's audience.

Oh yes, peepul, it's going to be a real show. Whatever else you have in mind do not pass it up. Come early and get comfortably seated before the show begins.

Remember Friday and Saturday nights, lots of surprises, jokes, songs, sketches, heap big time for all.

Friday, just the show: Saturday, show and dance, absolutely informal of course.

Come both nights if you can. Come one night any way. 'Ats the stuff.

To Open New Home.

"Ready for next Monday's meeting." So says the Troop Committee about the Scout House, which has been remodeled during the past week.

While the changes will be of great temporary advantage to the boys, much larger accommodations will be needed in the near future. New boys are joining every meeting.

Thanks are extended to Mr. William D. Snedley for the window sash he furnished to Alvin E. Shull, of the Shull Lumber Company, for lumber, to Harvey Cook, of Cook Brothers, for five gallons of roof paint and for the labor which George B. Supple supplied.

The Drive.

The Rev. Robert E. Keighton, of the Baptist Church of the Evangel, sent this letter with his subscription. Dear Mr. Wolf:

"Once a Scout, always a Scout." As a former Scout who later became a scoutmaster, I could hardly find it in my heart to say other than the very best about the movement.

"Scouting is practical religion, for it is life; not merely our life, but life as a great force that charms even as it challenges. No one can be brought into intelligent and sympathetic contact with it and not be better for the experience."

"When Kipling sounded a call for 'red-blooded men,' among other things he required were these:

"Who hath sweet woodsmoke at twilight? Who hath heard the birch-log burning? Who is quick to read the voices of the night?"

"Can you see the great crowd of boys who might answer that call?"

"In order that my faith in the movement may not be merely a matter of words, I am enclosing a small check towards your present campaign."

Cordially yours,

ROBERT E. KEIGHTON.

From St. Margaret's Roman Catholic Church, comes this letter: "A movement which second the formation and sponsors the development of every important phase of young America's pulsating life

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING

"Impressions of the 'Passion Play.'"

At the next Community Club meeting, March 31, the speaker will be Miss Anne E. Harlan, first vice president of the State Federation and National Chairman of International Relations. She will give her impressions of the Passion Play and the Holy Lands.

Mrs. E. C. Batchelor will give a Congressional and State Assembly report. There will be some musical feature on the program.

The president, Mrs. Jacobs, was very much pleased with the exceptional attendance at the last meeting and hopes that the members will give Miss Harlan the inspiring help of a large audience.

Lots Doing at the Junior High

Reporters Tell of Athletics and Engagement

There was a volley ball game Tuesday, the Ninth Grade against the Seventh B. The Ninth Grade won the first game, the Seventh B the second, and the Ninth Grade the third. This game was to decide the championship of the Junior High School. A pennant will be hung in the gymnasium with the school colors and the Ninth Grade that won the championship.

Miss Jenkins took the Ninth Grade Civics Class in to see the courts in Philadelphia. Talks were given in assembly by the following people: Robert Barclay, Ann Speed, Harry Messec.

A Latin play was given by four pupils of the Eighth A Grade, Marie Wentz, Mildred Gilfillan, Raymond Staley and Robert Caldwell. This play was written by Elizabeth Terry, of the Eighth Special Grade.

For a while it was undecided whether to have track or baseball this spring. However, track has been decided upon and the track is now being laid.

The library has been thoroughly catalogued and is now open for use. Miss Jenkins is being instructed in its management.

The Narberth Junior High School boys played a basketball game on Saturday against the Church Farm School. We lost, 47-8. This was the last game of the season.

Pictures have been taken of the actors in the three one-act plays. They are being sold at 5 cents apiece.

James Gowland, of the Ninth Grade, entered into the National Oratorical Contest on the "Constitution." He qualified for the Narberth Junior High, and was entered into the Upper Darby regional tryouts. This week word was received, however, that Narberth is debarred from the contest because it does not have a four-year high school. This means that our entrant has withdrawn.

On Saturday, March 21, Mrs. Wilsey E. Speakman announced the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth Frescolini, to Mr. Chas. H. McCarter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard McCarter, of Narberth.

Miss Miriam Jenkins, of Swarthmore, entertained 15 of the Narberth School faculty at a St. Patrick's Day luncheon in honor of Miss Speakman. At this time the announcement was made and a linen shower was also given to her.

Editors, Helen McCracken and William Henderson.

Men's Night.

Next Sunday night, March 29, will be Men's Night at the Methodist Church. The special speaker for that evening will be Col. G. W. B. Hicks, Executive Secretary of the Sesqui-Centennial Commission. His subject will be "The Impressions of the Church Should Make Upon the Visitors to the Centennial." The pastor will also speak and the male quartet will furnish music.

Let every man of the church be a booster for this meeting! Shall we not surpass the record of last month?

New College Near Here in Fall

St. Joe's to Build Soon at Bala

At a meeting of the General Committee of St. Joseph's College Foundation last week it was decided to break ground for the new college on City avenue, Wynnefield, next fall, on a date to be selected later by the Rev. Albert G. Brown, S. J., president of the college.

A Building Committee was appointed to carry the plans of the General Committee into execution.

It is now nearing the end of the second year since the $1,000,000 drive was started for the new college, to be erected on a 23-acre site at Fifty-fourth street and City Line. The drive resulted in getting more than $100,000 above the million, but considerable of it was in pledges which gave the contributors from one to five years to pay the whole amount.

The entire amount has not yet been paid anywhere near in full, but enough has been realized, it was said, to warrant a start on the first building, which will be the school of arts, or the college building proper. Hand in hand with the erection of this building will go the erection of the athletic field and stadium, and it is planned to have the latter finished first, with a capacity of probably 75,000.

The athletic grounds will be available, in fact, for baseball, football, etc., next summer and fall, even before ground is broken for the college building. The stadium will be erected on that part of the tract which is a natural bowl.

After the college building is completed the faculty building will be started, and then the chapel and gymnasium. The latter, it is said, will be one of the finest in the country. Then, in order, will follow the erection of the scientific building, library, law school, engineering school, school of finance and administration building.

Teaching will begin as soon as the college building is completed, because the faculty can be housed in the present quarters of the college at Eighteenth and Thompson streets. It is anticipated that the college will be ready for classes when the term begins in October, 1926.

L. M. Alumni Dance.

For the first time in several years the Lower Merion Alumni are holding a big spring dance. The date has been set for April 13, Easter Monday, and the place is, as usual, the Senior High School gymnasium. All arrangements are being made by the committee to accommodate the largest crowd ever present at an Alumni dance, since this one is being held just after Lent, and at a time when the folks will be home from college for Easter vacation.

By a special arrangement the "Garnet Serenaders" of Swarthmore College have been secured to furnish the music for the occasion. These versatile entertainers played for the dance held after the 1924 February concert, and were liked so well that many requests were made to have them again.

At the dance there will also be the drawing for the lucky number in the radio raffle. Chances are even now on sale by someone in your vicinity, and may be obtained from members of the association. The set, which is now on display, is a five-tube Atwater Kent, with a loud speaker.

Every one who was at the last Alumni dance will remember the decorations and novelties which did so much to make the evening a joyful one, and the committee has announced its intention to decorate the hall once more and to provide even better and noisier novelties. Don't forget the date, Easter Monday, April 13, and pass the news on to your friends.

D. A. R. to Meet.

The regular stated meeting of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Miller, No. 426 Haverford avenue, Narberth, Saturday, April 4, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Samuel Z. Shope, Regent, presiding.

Welfare Meeting a Huge Success

Legion and Auxiliary in Joint Session

The joint meeting of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary held Monday evening, March 23, was most successful.

The two principal speakers were Mrs. William H. Rothrock, Vice President of the Legion Auxiliary of the State, and Miss Kennedy, Superintendent of Welfare work at Hospital No. 49, Twenty-fourth and Gray's Ferry avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Rothrock gave some startling facts regarding the wonderful work the Auxiliary has been able to accomplish, in spite of the limited finances available.

They have gladdened the heart of many of the "boys" at Oteen, N. C., by their timely gifts of clothing and money.

Last Christmas they sent every boy there a box containing many useful articles, supplied by the various units of the Auxiliary throughout the State.

Miss Donnelly gave a clear, concise statement of facts as they exist in the Government Hospitals today. Perhaps the most startling fact was that the Government does hospitalize all veterans of any war, but that it does not supply clothing for any of these veterans. Some of the men, of course, receive compensation, but in the last month 69 new mental cases have been admitted at Gray's Ferry avenue, none of whom have any compensation whatever. This presents a very difficult problem, as the Welfare workers try to treat all patients alike, as any partiality shown causes discontent among the patients.

After listening to such stirring talk everyone felt a deeper responsibility to the disabled veterans. Inasmuch as the Legion of Narberth has pledged 25 per cent. of all income to be used in Welfare work among the disabled veterans, the best way for the good people of Narberth to show their appreciation of our efforts to help the disabled is to support the Legion show on April 24 and 25.

Let our slogan in Narberth be, "Support the Legion Show."

JUNIORS ENTERTAINED

at Banquet Given by Senior Women.

The Executive Board and Board of Directors of the Women's Community Club gave the Junior Club a perfectly wonderful evening on Tuesday, March 24. The Juniors sat down to a genuine home-cooked dinner, doubly impressed by the fact that there were mushrooms and that their Seniors were waiting on them while they sat in state. Stunts were given between courses—an unforgettable dance, "The Pipes of Pan," as interpreted by Marion Trotter and Mrs. James Donnelly with great spontaneity and surprising originality of costume, a jazz dance of very decided merit by Mrs. Gilpin, and finally a song of tragic pathos about the virtues of a certain Mackie Steinway sung with evident emotional strain but in the undisguisably mellow voice of Mrs. Arthur Staples. Mrs. Harris, the program chairman for the evening, was responsible for the words of this song.

The Juniors must have had a wise hunch that they were going to have a treat, for they turned out in full force. At any rate, one girl was heard to remark, "I don't see why we need to have two clubs. The Seniors are just as young as we are!"

Relief Contributions.

The Red Cross is extending relief to the entire tornado area, including Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama. Your Chapter is authorized to receive and forward American Red Cross, National Headquarters, Washington, all contributions for relief. The publicity is given so that citizens in this community can contribute through the Main Line Branch No. 1, American Red Cross, Memorial Building, Bryn Mawr.

REAL CONSERVATION

During the last 15 years practically all the larger chestnut trees in Southern Pennsylvania have been killed by the chestnut blight. With the utilization of all the chestnut trees of commercial size for staves, lath and lumber, there have resulted many big sawdust piles. These sawdust piles contain enormous quantities of wood substance that were formerly burned off to rot.

This enormous wastage of wood substance was called to the attention of Professor J. T. Auten, of the State Forest School, at Mt. Alto, who, with the students in organic chemistry, began to develop means of using the sawdust. As a result of their investigations they have made a considerable number of commercial chemical products from the sawdust. The products that have already been made are a sweeping compound, tannin, nitro cellulose, artificial silk, celluloid, collodion, acetate acid, acetone, methyl alcohol, chloralhydrate and isopropyl alcohol. All these products are now on exhibition at the State Forest School at Mt. Alto.

Dr. E. A. Ziegler, director of the State Forest School, says that as a result of chemical experiments, "It may be possible to develop methods of putting to practical commercial use the enormous quantities of sawdust waste that is annually lost. We are just entering an era of more intensive utilization of all forest products. Too much wood substance is now being wasted. Each year the work of the organic chemist is playing a more important role in forest conservation problems."

NORRISTOWN CONSIDERS FORMING NEW LEAGUE

Says Suburban Rivals Are Too Easy for Them.

Norristown High, dissatisfied with the quality of competition which its athletic teams is getting in the Suburban School League, and disgruntled at the treatment which its claims to football championships have been accorded in the past, is considering withdrawing from the Suburban League to form a new league with Bethlehem, Reading and Allentown high schools.

The movement was started two weeks ago, when Bethlehem High withdrew from the Lehigh Valley League and started negotiations with Norristown anent formation of a new league. No action has yet been taken by Norristown on the proposal, and none is likely until the beginning of the next school year.

If the "colym" chatter of Norristown sports writers can be taken as an indication of Norristown High's feelings in the matter, the county seat school seems to feel that the quality of competition which it is getting in the Suburban League is far below grade and is hardly enough to give its wonder teams even a good work-out. The reasoning by which the Norristowners arrive at this modest conclusion makes interesting reading to students of Lower Merion, Radnor and other high schools which are members of the Suburban League.

Discussing the proposed new league, Randolph Wright, Jr., one of the county seat sports pages scribes, says:

"The action was caused by the flat refusal of the Bethlehem authorities to again enter the Lehigh Valley League because of the disgraceful manner in which their basketball team was treated at Slatington recently."

"Norristown High supporters who have felt the lack of competition in the Suburban League will welcome the proposal, and Principal Taylor himself is strongly in favor of the move."

"The proposal of the Bethlehem representative at the meeting of the P. I. A. A. district committee, presided over by Mr. Taylor at the Liberty High School, Bethlehem, last week, for the formation of a new league fell like a bombshell in the meeting. After discussion by the representatives of the schools asked to join, all expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the move. Mr. Taylor was representing Norristown, William Sherker, Reading; R. T. Alan, Allentown, and L. W. Stone, Easton.

"Search for a sixth team strong enough to enter competition with the imposing array of five of the strongest schools in Pennsylvania is now under way, and it is likely that another of the coal region teams will be chosen."

"The whole thing was started when the Bethlehem representative announced that he would never again enter his teams in the Lehigh Valley League because of the trouble which the cage team had at Slatington on Saturday last, when one of the Red and Blue was knocked unconscious by a spectator, and Referee 'Doggy' Gulian was threatened with chastisement should Bethlehem win."

"Easton is reported to have had similar trouble at Catasauqua, and both teams refuse to play at either of those places in the coming P. I. A. A. basketball tourney."

"The formation of a league with Bethlehem, Reading, Allentown, Easton and Norristown, the cream of eastern Penn. scholastic circles, would surely find favor among Norristown fans."

"Such a circuit had for a long time been the hopes of Harold Zimmerman when he was here as athletic director, but lack of funds in the A. A. to provide for long and frequent trips made the plan impossible. Now, however, with what is probably the second wealthiest A. A. in the State, Norristown High could enter into such proposition without the least fear of draining their athletic treasury."

"That the league would be the fastest in the State there can be no doubt. All of the proposed member schools, with the exception of Easton, are well known here and have met Norristown in all branches of athletic competition. Easton also has an enviable reputation both on the gridiron and in the cage, and is equal in strength to any of the others."

"The sixth member of the circuit would cause some little trouble, but will probably be ironed out before the fall. Pottstown, Pottsville, Tamaqua, Lansford and several other coal region teams are now under consideration."

Surprise Party.

On Thursday last, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Banfield, of 120 Conway avenue, gave their daughter, May, a surprise party. On returning home from a music lesson, the young hostess found the house in darkness, but soon it was alight, and shouts of revelry were heard. This, of course, was a shock to her nervous system, but after a dose of aromatics, the hostess began "to feel herself" again. These were the guests:

The Misses Margaret Harshaw, Mary Donahue, Helen Shea, Katherine McKelvey, Anna Sell, Elizabeth Roser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. Esslersgher, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rooser, Dick Blessing and Joseph Crookes, of Narberth; Mrs. Hillier, of Upland, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. John Bevan and son, Philip; Mr. Henry Rhineholt, of Ardmore; Mr. Lilly, of Gladwyn, and Mr. Eagle, of Bryn Mawr.

GROCERIES—MEAT—VEGETABLES

Cash Only—No Delivery

Just as much difference as there is between Good, Better and Best is the difference between the meats and groceries you buy and the price you pay for them.

We could give you, at a competitive price, good meat and good poultry and good groceries, but any grocer or meat man cannot give you the "Best Eats" at the price of just "good eats."

There is as marked difference in the eating as in the paying. Our Meats and Poultry only one quality and that the Best, which we, on account of "Cash only and no Delivery," can probably save you considerable money, while you eat like a "prince" and enjoy every bite.

Just so on Eggs—one quality, "the best a chicken can lay," and always lower than any other store. We take the entire output of the biggest egg man in Lancaster County.

The Ja-Nar Radiator Cover

Makes a beautiful piece of furniture
out of an unsightly radiator

NOTHING mars the appearance of a room more than a bare radiator. It doesn't fit in with any scheme of decoration. It is a jarring note in an otherwise harmonious surrounding.

Why tolerate it any longer when you can cover it with a Ja-Nar finished in mahogany, walnut, or other desired finish to match any scheme of decoration?

No home owner, having spent many hours of thoughtful care in planning a home costing twenty thousand dollars or more, but will be interested in the Ja-Nar as the finishing touch that will forever free him from stained or streaked decorations and discolored walls.

Perfectly insulated, so that you can place books, vases, flowers, etc., on it—made of finest furniture steel to cover either high or low radiators.

The Ja-Nar Radiator Cover will also automatically control the temperature of the room if you so desire. Why not arrange now to have one or more of your rooms Ja-Nar equipped? You can view them at our office.

Ask the Ja-Nar man to come and see you

He will explain just how the Ja-Nar Radiator Cover works and how much it costs to cover your ugly radiators and protect walls and decorations. Use the coupon.

BADER BANS BOUDOIR
BREECHES ON BOARDW'K

Atlantic City Mayor Disapproves of Pajama Fad.

Pajamas as an article of adornment for the Atlantic City beaches during the coming summer will be officially frowned upon, no matter how popular they may have become in the resorts of the Riviera and Florida. Mayor Edward L. Bader and Director of Public Safety William S. Cuthbert, arbiters of bathing styles there, are inclined to place their seal of disapproval upon the pajamas, save as an habilitation of the boudoir.

News of the antics of the pajama-clad habitues of the Lido in Venice and other resorts having reached Atlantic City, Mayor Bader and Director Cuthbert, both of whom have been very generous with resort visitors in the matter of dress, were asked for opinions on the new fad and whether pajamas would be permitted here when the season opens.

"I don't think so," said the Mayor. "No, we couldn't allow anything like that."

Director Cuthbert would not say positively what his move would be in case pajamas made their appearance on the beach, remarking that he would have to think it over, but he intimated that he was opposed to them.

"I don't approve very much of the styles they have now," he said. "I like the old-fashioned type of girl; one that does not paint her face and rouge her lips; one that is sensible in dress. I can't say off-hand what I would do in case pajamas make their appearance in public here, but I don't think they are the proper things to wear on the beach and Boardwalk."

So far there has been no effort to display the new fad in Atlantic City, but with the opening of the summer season it is expected that some of the pajama fans will blossom forth with the highly-colored and decorated garments.

A kiss is what happens when two good friends meet face to face.

RAP COMPULSORY
MOTOR INSURANCE

Would Penalize Millions for Reckless Few, Companies Assert.

Compulsory automobile liability insurance would not of itself reduce accidents, but would tend to increase them. It would burden and penalize motorists because of the faults of a few and benefit only a small proportion of the injured. It would increase the cost of insurance. Efforts should be concentrated upon accident prevention.

These are findings of the Committee of Nine on Financial Responsibility for Automobile Accidents, appointed by insurance men in December, in view of proposed legislation for compulsory insurance. Summed up, their opinion is that the people would be taxed millions of dollars a year to satisfy a few judgments, and that sweeping insurance would increase recklessness.

Compulsory automobile liability insurance has been much under discussion locally since it was reported at Harrisburg that a Legislative Commission was preparing to sponsor a law providing this in Pennsylvania. Last month the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club voted against blanket indorsement of this kind of insurance.

"The evil is not that certain individuals may not be indemnified for injuries suffered through the faults of others, but is that because of reckless and negligent operation of motor vehicles upon our highways and the disregard of laws many individuals are injured," it is stated in the report.

"If the evil is remedied—that is, if motor vehicle accidents are reduced in number—then the minor result of this evil will be reduced in at least the same proportion and it will be reduced in a way of utmost value; for the saving of life and limb will be substituted for the palliative of assured indemnity."

"Prevention of accidents, therefore, must be the real objective, and as to this we stand squarely on the platform of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, presided over by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, which put to one side compulsory insurance or security and emphasized the ways and means for prevention."

It is stated in the report that the ratio of injuries to the number of automobiles is steadily decreasing.

The committee was composed of Edson S. Lott, president, United States Casualty Company, chairman; James W. Henry, president, National Association of Casualty and Surety Agents; Austin J. Lilly, general counsel, Maryland Casualty Company; Manton Maverick, vice president, Continental Casualty Company; Thomas C. Moffatt, president, National Association of Insurance Agents; A. Duncan Reid, president, Globe Indemnity Company; C. H. Remington, vice president, Aetna Life Insurance Company; Edward C. Stone, associate general manager, Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, and William Bro-smith, vice president, Travelers' Insurance Company.

When it comes to one-piece bathing suits a girl's modesty is largely a matter of form.

TELLS OF TOWNSHIP
FIRE DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Albert R. Gray Explains Lower Merion Companies.

The "Fire Department" of Lower Merion township is composed of the Bryn Mawr Fire Company, the Merion Fire Company (of Ardmore), the Union Fire Company (of Bala-Cynwyd), and Ashland Heights. All are volunteer companies.

Two qualifications for admission to the department are established. The fire company must have real and personal property to the value of $10,000, and must have been organized for at least two years.

The chief must serve without pay. The quality of fire protection of the township depends on: First, the equipment and efficiency of the volunteer companies. Second, The township administrative control over companies especially in securing co-operation and enforcing discipline. Third, Water supply. Fourth, Conditions of highways affecting response to an alarm. The Bala-Cynwyd as well as the Bryn Mawr Fire Company is equipped with three pieces of motor apparatus, with full accessories, which would be the envy of any city department.

The chairman of the police and fire company is directed to inspect the fire house and apparatus of each company in the department once every three months, and recommend to a company any change or improvement deemed advantageous for the support of the fire-fighting service. The Township Commissioners make an annual appropriation to each company in the township of $2500, except Ashland, which receives $700. Hydrant service is provided by rental from the Springfield Water Company.

There are approximately 200 plugs which cost the township $60 per annum each. The placing of fire plugs is determined by vote of police and fire committee upon recommendation of chief of police.

Canst Thou Beat It?

Consider the editor! A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the town. The physician getteth to plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yea, he lieth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a Cremo.

Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. Yea, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor gets a note of thanks from the sweet girl graduate.

And the daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture postal card that costeth six for a jitney.

Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship. She picketh one and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto the editor a bid to the wedding, and behold the bids are fashioned in a far city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth 10 bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a 12-months subscription.

All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered unto the soil. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks, and he forgetteth to read proof on the dead and the darned thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and cancelleth their subs, and they swing the hammer even unto the third and fourth generations. — Washington Pathfinder.

QUARANTINE MUST PROTECT SOCIETY

But at Same Time Should Hinder Citizens Least Possible.

"Every modern quarantine must be arranged to give the greatest protection to the community and to interfere as little as possible with the earning capacity of the householder," says Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, State Health Department, in discussing this important restriction in its present phases.

"Constantly increasing knowledge about the causes and manner of the spread of communicable diseases has modified and is modifying not only the length and type of quarantine imposed, but the whole procedure of communicable disease control," Dr. Campbell declared.

"It is a long step from the blind efforts of ancient times to the present day quarantines. Perhaps in all respects these are not yet wholly scientific. To the uninformed they may appear still to be about as arbitrary as they ever could have been."

"Two factors determine the duration of quarantine—first the length of time the patient will remain infectious, and, second, the length of time necessary to show whether others in the family will develop the disease."

"The last named interval has been pretty well established by observation for all the diseases requiring quarantine. In diphtheria and scarlet fever it is short—three or four days on an average; in measles and chickenpox much longer—perhaps as much as two weeks, and in mumps as long as three weeks."

"The length of the infectious period is somewhat the reverse, that is, cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever remain infectious for three weeks and even longer, while in measles, chickenpox and mumps the patient has ceased to be infectious by the time he is entirely well, or in measles, perhaps, even before that time. With these facts in mind the quarantine periods have been worked out and all are fixed at the least number of days which will fill both requirements."

MUSIC FESTIVAL IN JUNE

League Announces Change in Plans for Music Week.

A musical festival will be held on Wednesday evening, June 3, on Frankford Field, under the auspices of the Music League of Philadelphia, according to Dr. Herbert J. Tily, of Cynwyd, the president.

At a meeting of the board of directors, Dr. Tily stated that the League would make a change this year in its annual programme of sponsoring spring Music Week. Only one festival event will be held in the spring in the University Stadium, and Music Week will be observed in the fall as an opening of the musical season for churches, schools, studios and conservatories. For the event Franklin Field will be equipped with the most modern amplifiers, so that every word spoken or sung may be heard in all parts of the stadium.

Black's Farm Sold.

The "Black Farm," including approximately 100 acres, on Coopers town road, Bryn Mawr, has been sold by E. A. Havens Company and F. P. Carter to Richard J. Seltzer for development purposes. The property is reported sold for a price close to $450,000. This is one of the biggest transactions in the Main Line section in recent years and marks the passing of an old landmark. The property was owned 10 years ago by Samuel Black, then general superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He built the big house opposite the Bryn Mawr Hospital, which is now occupied as a Memorial Community House. The property has been in the Black family for more than a century and is surrounded by the estates of George W. Childs Drexel, Livingston Biddle and William Ellis Scull.

Kite Flying Contest.

A kite flying contest will be held Monday, April 13, in some large field along the Main Line, probably at Wynnewood, under the auspices of the Main Line Y. M. C. A.

The contest will be open to boys and girls of the various public and private schools in Radnor, Haverford and Lower Merion townships.

VAST ORGANIZATION BRINGS WATER TO HOME

Methods of Present Day Companies Differ Greatly From Older Ones.

The average citizen who draws a glass of water through the spigot and drinks it, only knows that the water is there on tap, day and night, that it is fresh and cool and free from impurities. Aside from knowing that he can refresh himself at a moment's notice without any trouble or preliminaries he has no other concern. Water is just water to him and he turns his attention to more pressing business.

But behind that one glass of water is maintained a far-reaching organization, says the Springfield Consolidated Water Company, with great dams, hundreds of miles of transmissions and distribution mains laboratories, filter plants, pumping stations, executive headquarters, delicate machinery, all bound together into organizations that makes that one glass of water possible.

In the olden days a water company simply impounded the water and sent it out through the pipes for distribution. It is a far reach from the impounding of water and the old methods, to the present complexity of the modern water company.

Nowadays the complete ownership of land used for watersheds is the rule of good business. When ownership is the case proper protection for the public and the company is thus assured. Thousands and tens of thousands of dollars are invested by modern water companies in land that is valuable only as water reserves and which can serve no other purpose.

The distribution of water is but one part of the operation of a big company. Before the water goes to the public it is carefully filtered then sterilized by chlorine machines, a requirement of the State Board of Health. Every drop that goes through the hundreds of miles of pipe must be absolutely pure, for the water company realizes as no other concern does that it has in its keeping the health of tens of thousands of human beings.

Nowadays impure water served by big companies is practically unheard of. This is due to the eternal vigilance of the water company engineers and the chemists who analyze and test unceasingly. Their reports as to water standards are made out in triplicate and over them keeping eternal vigilance is the State Department of Health.

Water is the one essential of health and life itself. Man can subsist for quite a while without food. He can live without electric lights, but he must have water or die.

Without water there would be no electricity or gas; no electric railways. One is inclined to divide power into water, steam, electricity, etc. All these powers would not exist were it not for water.

Deprive a great city of water and chaos is the result. Within a short space of time that city would go back to medieval ages. Lights go out, citizens are deprived of water for drinking and household purposes; manufactures close, electric lines cease to run. Fires starting will rage undisturbed with no way of quenching them. Continue the shortage for only a period of days and the weak and infirm will die unless they receive water from outside sources. In the hospitals water is absolutely necessary. With no water the appalling loss of life can be imagined. If the reader thinks this picture overdrawn let his mind dwell on the recent Japanese earthquake.

The shock of the quakes with the resultant loss of life and the destruction of property were as nothing to the horror that followed the breaking and ripping apart of the water mains. Fire-fighters and volunteers stood by helpless as the consuming flames marched over a great section of the city with nothing to stop them. The fire had to burn itself out and the loss of life and property which might have been prevented had there been water was great.

A Great Chance.

Wanted—Pipe organist, who can also fill the position of auto mechanic or steno. and typist or bldg. custodian or handy mechanic or undertaker; a good steady position. Box M-110200.—Classified add in the Oakland (Cal.) Tribune.

LEAGUE HEAD ATTACKS TAX COLLECTOR'S LOBBY

Answers Four Major Objections to Ludlow Bill.

An answer to each of the four major objections which have been urged against the Ludlow bill for the revision of county tax laws, is contained in a statement mailed to leading men and women of the Commonwealth by Mrs. John O. Miller, chairman of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Miller, as head of the League, is fighting for the enactment of the Ludlow bill into law, to the end that taxpayers may be saved annually between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 now paid out in exorbitant fees to tax collectors. She is combating the efforts of the Tax Collectors' Lobby to continue their raid on taxpayers. The League's State chairman points out that where the objections have not been inspired by the Tax Collectors' Lobby, for the purpose of hiding their rich profits, they are based on a misunderstanding of the provisions of the Ludlow bill. In her statement, Mrs. John O. Miller, said:

"The drive in the interest of the enactment of the Ludlow bill for the fairer assessment and more economical collection of county taxes has developed the opposition to the bill and provides this opportunity for meeting the objections which have been raised. It appears to be generally true that where this opposition is not based on a selfish interest in the exorbitant fees charged by tax collectors, that it is based on a misunderstanding of the provisions of the bill. Some of this misunderstanding is purposely fostered by tax collectors, who are resorting to every devious device to protect their rich fees. They are paid, in most instances, many times in excess of the value of the services rendered.

First: It is charged that the Ludlow bill would result in a concentration of the receipts from taxes in the county seat and that the governing bodies which must spend the funds, will not be able to get at the funds, perhaps for a year. Of course, it is ridiculous to suppose that funds raised by taxes are to be prevented from getting into the hands of the proper spending agencies. Taxes are gathered to support Government; not to be hidden away somewhere. Now as to the alleged concentration of funds: The bill specifically forbids this and makes it a criminal offense to cause such concentration. The Ludlow bill provides that "the county tax collector shall make monthly returns in writing to the Board of County Commissioners and to the corporate authorities of the several cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school and poor districts, showing the amount of taxes collected during the preceding month and the amount of uncollected taxes upon the duplicate. He shall at the time pay over to the treasurer of the county and to the treasurers of the various districts, the full amounts so collected. Any county tax collector failing to make any monthly payment as herein required shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $500.

The money, instead of being concentrated, will be no more concentrated than it is at present; the money will be paid as promptly as possible to the treasurers of the local districts.

Second: It is argued that the Ludlow bill does not meet local conditions. As a matter of fact, the Ludlow bill provides that the county tax collector has authority to appoint any bank or trust company as deputy county tax collector for the purpose of receiving and receipting for taxes paid to it at its place of business. This also provides against concentration of funds. Again the bill provides that the county tax collector may use his clerks as deputy tax collectors and these deputies may be assigned to sit, receive and receipt for taxes in any municipal district of the county. In any municipal district where there is no bank, the county collector or one of his deputies shall sit to receive payment of taxes at least two days prior to the time when a penalty will attach to any installment of taxes. Public notice of the time and place of attendance of such deputy must be advertised in the newspapers. Or the taxpayer may pay his taxes by money order or check. Thus the bill is fully adapted to local conditions; tax collection methods and necessary tax collectors are not abolished. Only the excessive fee system is abolished and a plan provided which gets the same and better results for less cost. Under this system, which Williamsport is using voluntarily, the cost of collection has been cut from $10,750 to $4300, a saving to taxpayers in that single instance of $6450.

Third: It is alleged that under the Ludlow bill, the Board of County Assessors would be dominated by the County Commissioners and that the political power of the latter would be enhanced. As a matter of fact, the County Assessors would be elected by the people in the counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth classes. Only in the very small counties, of the seventh and eighth classes, the County Commissioners would act as the Board of County Assessors.

Fourth: It is alleged that the bill would take away home rule. This is utterly false in every respect. It is a specious argument used to divert attention from the real merit of the bill. As a matter of fact, the bill does not touch the method of levying taxes. The tax rate would continue to be fixed by the local, home rule unit. It is undisputed that home rule control of the tax rate is genuine home rule. For the tax rate, the millage, controls the size of the tax bill. Once the assessments are on a fair, square and equal basis, the taxpayer can centre attention on the tax rate or millage. The taxpayer can thus see that those who will make millage just and honest are elected in the local elections. No matter what the assessment is, the taxpayers' bill is determined by the millage and that matter is left, as it is now, to the local, home rule authorities. If the millage is too high, plenty of candidates for local offices will arise who will stand for proper local economy.

There is no real or sound argument against the Ludlow bill. It stands for genuine economy and efficiency in the county and local districts where it is often badly needed. It makes for less expensive home rule. The Tax Collectors' Lobby want to make home rule even more expensive than it is now. Those who oppose this bill oppose the best interest of the taxpayer and the local district. Those who oppose it are vainly attempting to halt the march of economy. Economy is in the air; it will not be put off by greed. For years, the huge salaries, legalized graft, it has been called, or to use the phrase of President Coolidge, 'legalized larceny,' have not been generally known! Taxpayers were allowed to have only a vague idea of the big fees gathered in by tax collectors. The people now know the fact and they will not tolerate efforts to begot the issue!"

ACTORS ARE FORCED TO STOP BREATHING

Frank Lloyd, director-producer of "The Sea Hawk," from Rafael Sabatini's colorful adventure novel of that title, which will be shown at the Ardmore Theatre, beginning Wednesday, April 1, and continuing through Saturday, was confronted during the making of the photoplay with a condition where the breath of his actors interfered with the realism of the film.

Mr. Lloyd was filming night scenes aboard the big Moorish sixteenth century galley off Catalina Island. Temperature off that island can get uncomfortably cold, and on this particular occasion the breath of Milton Sills, who acts the stellar role, that of Sakr-el-Bahr, the Englishman who turns Moslem and sweeps the Spanish vessels off the Mediterranean Sea, and of Frank Currier, the Algerian chieftain, was as visible as clouds of smoke, and seeing one's breath while sailing as near the equator as the Barbary Coast and in the summer time would have been a technical error that the spectators would have caught.

Mr. Sills and Mr. Currier could not get their scene across without speaking, and every time they uttered a word their breath rose in the air-like steam. The scene was a very tense and dramatic one. Mr. Lloyd did not waste time waiting for the temperature to rise several degrees and tried out various devices to keep the actors' breath from registering.

Following various experiments, by holding their breath and moving their lips silently, the camera stopping every few seconds to permit the men to inhale and exhale several times, the scene was finished.

SCOUT MINSTREL SHOW
NOW IN FULL BLAST

should be greeted with the approval and support of the entire community."

Respectfully,

The Reverend Clergy,

St. Margaret's Church.

These letters amply sustain the claim that though the Scout movement is non-sectarian, it has fully earned the support of every church and the endorsement of all the clergy, regardless of church affiliations.

It is hoped that the citizens of Narberth will follow the lead of the pastors by getting behind the boys to the limit of their ability.

Additional names on the Roll of Honor follow: Charles B. Carson, Anonymous, $5.00; Joseph J. Pearson, E. H. Sickels, F. P. Meigs, A. E. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shinn, Dr. Lawrence R. Davis, Lemira M. Beatty, Rev. R. E. Keighton, Osborne H. Graves, Horace E. Ruch, Howard E. Davis.

While every contribution is sincerely appreciated, a greater response had been anticipated.

So far only 135 residents have contributed. This, in a town of Narberth's size, is a rather small showing. If every adult resident would dig down a little it would at least show the committee that their efforts are appreciated, to say nothing of the effect it would have on the boys.

All residents are welcome next Monday at the reopening of the Scout House. If you have any doubt of the value and importance of this work to the youth of the town drop in and look it over.

And remember the boys need your moral support as well as your financial assistance.

Kindly send your contributions to Edwin T. Wolf, Treasurer, Narberth Boy Scouts, Narberth, Pa.

Anything will be appreciated—dimes, quarters, dollars—fives, ten-spots. There is no limit—high or low. But give something and give it now!

TALKS AT L. M. HIGH

Major Alfred Collins, world traveler and explorer, was the speaker at the assembly exercises last Thursday. He spoke before the assembled student body of the Junior and Senior High Schools.

Introduced by Mr. William J. Byrnes, secretary of the School Board, Major Collins spoke for two hours in a highly interesting manner on his experiences in African wilds and of his trips around the world. The talk was illustrated.

"Do you know I framed the first check you sent me?"

"No," said the publisher. "If you had suggested trading on that basis I'd have sent you more."

OUR TOWN

MORE FUNDS—MORE BOOKS

Valuable Reference Books Added to the Library Collection.

The Christmas tree fund of more than $140, which was so spontaneously contributed by friends of the Community Library, is making possible the purchase of standard works and reference books which have long been needed, while current revenues from rentals continue to provide new fiction. The two-volume supplement of the "New International Encyclopedia" has just been acquired. The possession of available funds enabled the Library to take advantage of Dodd, Meade & Co.'s pre-publication price of $14.50.

For Children.

These two volumes cover events and new discoveries from the year 1914 to date and provide an entirely adequate supplement for any encyclopedia which was published ten years ago. The Library has several such encyclopedias and believes that the two new volumes will fill an important need until the time comes when the complete set of the latest edition of the "New International" can be bought.

The same fund has also provided for the purchase of more than fifty new volumes for the children's department. Practically all of these volumes are listed as required reading for school children and the Library was glad to be able to buy them from the Hunting collection of re-sewed books for libraries. The Hunting books are well known to all professional librarians because of their increased durability which prolongs the life of each volume in much greater proportion than the extra original charge made by Mr. Hunting over the publisher's price.

Another interesting reference book, recently sent to the Library free of charge by the State is "The Pennsylvania State Manual" for the years 1923-24. This directory of the State government has been published since 1866 and was well known as "Smull's Manual." The present volume marks the transfer of the publication of this book from private to public control. The copyright was purchased by the State under an Act of the 1923 Assembly.

The "State Manual" contains the rules of the general assembly, a legislative and State government directory, the Constitution of the United States and of Pennsylvania, lists of State and county officers, including biographical sketches of the Pennsylvania United States Senators, Congressmen and of important State officers. It also contains the election laws of the State and many valuable statistics of population and area by counties. It indicates that the population of Narberth was 3704 at the time of the 1920 census.

PLEASE DO NOT READ THIS unless you are interested in the welfare of another. Do you ever think of the men on the high seas who never see land for six months? These are the men who work on all kinds of ships and who bring to our ports merchandise of every description. There are many lonely hours on board ship, and it is to that end I am placing my appeal before the people of Narberth. If you have any magazines or literature of any kind will you not save it for these men to enjoy? Many kind friends last year helped to send eight thousand magazines on board ship, will you help to make it ten thousand this summer? If you have any way of delivering them, it will be more than appreciated; if not, I will make arrangements to call for them. Either leave them at 108 North Narberth avenue, or call Narberth 1218 and they will be taken at your convenience. It is a small way for you to contribute to the work of the Seaman's Church Institute, but it means more than I can tell you.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my former neighbor and friend, Lillian Simmons Townsend, who passed into rest March 31, 1923:

You have taken on your journey
A heart made stronger by faith,
A soul that passed at sunrise
Triumphantly over death.

MRS. JOHN B. BROOKS.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR POLICE PENSION FUND

Prominent Citizens Among Officers and Directors.

After more than a year of preparation the Police Pension Fund of Lower Merion is now functioning as a permanent organization. The Pension Fund is being supported by voluntary contributions from the citizens of the township and from dues of the policemen, which are $2 a month, starting with this month.

According to the laws policemen must serve 20 or more years and not under 50 years of age, and in such cases must be physically unfit for duty; 60 years of age will entitle a man for pension, providing he has served more than 20 years on the force. Wives and children in case of death of the policeman will not exceed more than $50 a month. Parents the same if policeman is unmarried.

The officers and directors of the organization are as follows: R. I. Hamilton, president; Captain James I. Donaghy, vice president; David S. Ludlum, vice president; Evan L. James, secretary and treasurer. Trustees, R. J. Hamilton, appointed by the court; David S. Ludlum, appointed by Board of Township Commissioners; Franklin D'Olier, appointed by members of the police force. Directors, James I. Donaghy, Sergeant William F. Wintz, Patrolman Charles E. Girvin, Patrolman Elmer Robb, Samuel Rea, Fletcher Stites and the board of trustees.

A girl asks, "He loves me, he loves me not?" as she pulls the petals off the daisy, and a man asks the same thing as he pulls the greenbacks off his bankroll.
